

witnesses at the wedding of her friend Stella Grabowska, who after her divorce from Wenceslas Walter married a Polish singer Bohdan Gilewicz occurring in the US under the name Barry Gill.

returned to the columns tabloid press on the occasion of his second marriage. April 5, 1935 r. In

Leo Robin, second husband Estelle Clark (Fig. Leorobin.com)

Los Angeles,

she married Leonard Robin, American composer and lyricist, a descendant of immigrants from Chisinau (then belonging to Romania). The musician had to conquer her heart written in 1934. Song Take a lesson from the Lark , which ended with the words: Build a cozy little nest, / And love will do the rest with the advent of night, / Receive a lesson from the lark / and solace among the dark next to his beloved person . In the act of marriage occurs Estelle under the name "Estelle H. Parker," although we do not have any information that in the years 1928-1935 was married.

The first years of marriage were happy for the State Robin. A couple living in a luxury home project esteemed architect Percy Parke'a Lewis in Los Angeles at the Conway Avenue. The apartment was located in the prestigious neighborhood of Holmby Hills, where lived the likes of Humphrey Bogart, Walt Disney or Gary Cooper.

Estelle quickly found himself in the role of lady of the house (in many classes wyręczała service it anyway) and the rock is constantly working on new songs Leo. Her husband and his family used to call it affectionately "Clarkie". In 1938. The spouses jointly celebrated the huge success of the artist - written by his song Thanks for the Memory won an Oscar for best original song. In later years, the song written by

